

AMERICA'S ALTRUISM ASSISTS DEMOCRACY

Boxer Fund Enables Chinese to Establish School at Peking.

Tsing Hua College Graduates Accepted at M. U.
Learn American Ideals.

The University of Missouri is aiding China to accept the advantages of America's altruism by having enrolled graduates of Tsing Hua College. And China is likewise giving America opportunity to propagate American ideals of Democracy into that country of 400,000,000 people.

America's altruism made possible the founding of the College of Tsing Hua. The Boxer Rebellion, due to a movement against foreign methods and modern reform ended in a Chinese attack upon the foreign embassies stationed at Peking. Much damage to property occurred, and the interference of those countries injured resulted in China paying indemnities. The United States received $20,000,000 in gold as her share, but in 1907 she returned it to China. This sum was to be used only for educational purposes and became known as the Boxer Indemnity Fund.

The Chinese government responded to this opportunity in 1910 when Tsing Hua was established at Peking. In the short period of ten years as a junior college it has increased its attendance from about 30 to 800. The aim of the government is to develop it into a standard four-year University which will fulfill the needs of a greater number of students and also keep them at home. Centrally located and maintained by the government it has excellent opportunities for growth and expansion.

Every year twenty-one provinces select students for Tsing Hua College by competitive examinations. These examinations are given once a year and those ranking highest are chosen. When students are graduated from Tsing Hua College they are sent by their government to the United States to continue along work they are interested in. The number of graduates who come to the United States each year average eighty. They are allowed to select the American College which they feel is the best suited to their interests.

They are given five-year scholarships and all fees and expenses are paid by the Chinese government. Upon graduation in an American college these students may or may not return to China, although most of them do. They are not under any obligations to serve their government nor does it have to give them a position.

Graduates of Tsing Hua who are enrolled in the University at present are Hsiu-Sheng Hua, Ching Tu and Chu Hsiao.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS Home Economics Building.
